

BECOMING A PARTNER

The fight against climate change needs all actors to contribute and be committed to the cause: local authorities, businesses, and civil society (NGOs, research, etc.). By becoming a partner, you can contribute to our project and give us your support. Large companies or SMEs and public or private organisations, already trust and support us. Today, Climate Chance wishes to reinforce its actions, to do so, new partners are needed.

Everyone has a crucial role to play in reaching the 1.5° goal. All sectors of society must act in this direction, every citizen must take the issue of climate change seriously. Climate Chance makes this possible by bringing together all non-state actors

HOW TO BECOME A PARTNER OF CLIMATE CHANCE ?

Do you have a partnership project that you would like our association to benefit from?

Are you committed to leading a climate action with Climate Chance but do not know how?

Whatever your sector of activity, your objectives, your means, we propose to collaborate with you on a common project that makes sense for your structure and for our association.

Whether it is a long-term partnership or a one-off, there are many ways to provide us with concrete support today. Climate Chance's activities require human and financial means, even more so in the current difficult context for associations, obliging us more than ever to reinvent ourselves to pursue the actions and projects we carry out.

Skills-based sponsorships are another means of precious human support for completing tasks in our associative project. The mix of profiles, experiences and skills is a source of richness and value for all. This approach contributes to strengthening the involvement and motivation of employees and reinforces their expertise in a particular field of activity.

Are you interested in our approach? Would you like to contribute to the strengthening of non-state climate action around the world?

THEY TRUST US

Several companies and public actors have already given their support to Climate Chance and have played an essential role in the development of our projects over the last few years.

50% of our funding is public / 50% private.

As an active stakeholder in civil society, Schneider Electric and its foundation consider that partnership actions, combining different private and public actors, are one of the keys to the fight against climate change. Thanks to Schneider Electric's involvement in the Climate Chance association since its creation in 2015, the Group shares and exchanges best practices with all members of the association (local authorities, companies, NGOs) on : The role of digital technology in the energy transition and the fight against climate change; - The development of shared energy neighbourhoods, smart grids and sustainable cities at the local level; - Access to energy, training in energy-related professions and any action promoting universal access to clean and affordable energy.

SOME FEEDBACK FROM PARTNERS

Congratulations on this robust Report, we rarely see such comprehensive reports in French with all these references. AFD will use it to carry out an exercise in mainstreaming climate change concepts through the initiatives and actions it identifies.

Climate Chance is a qualified platform for exchange and discussion at the international level to highlight best practices and solutions led by non-state actors involved in the implementation of the Paris Agreement. It is also an unbelievably valuable tool for measuring the progress made worldwide in the fight against climate change.
